France Turns Down Russo-German "Peace Ultimatum" As "Blackmail" Attempt

FRENCH ATTITUDE: ALLIES NOT TO YIELD

PARIS, Sept. 30.—New French advances along the northeastern portion of the Saar front were claimed today as France turned down the Russo-German "peace ultimatum" as an attempt to "blackmail" the Anglo-French allies into surrendering to Germany.

A terse war communiqué, No. 54, stated merely:

"The night passed without incident. There was activity by patrols in the whole region east of the Saar."

Additional Gains
But behind this communiqué claims were advanced that the French had scored additional advances in the no man's land between the Maginot and Siegfried lines in the face of a constant artillery bombardment by the Germans.

The German barrage was aimed chiefly at preventing the French troops from consolidating their newly won positions, it was stated.

Premier Edouard Daladier conferred with Gen. Marie Gustave Gamelin, chief of the general staff, General Georges, a member of the higher council of war, General Vuillemin, vice president of the highest council of air, and vice admiral Jean Darlan, chief of the navy general staff.

The French reply to the new Russo-German friendship agreement was voiced in a radio address by French information chief Jean Girardoux, who said:

Allies Will Not Yield
"The allies will not yield to blackmail. Girardoux proclaimed the determination of the French to wage war even if Russia enters the conflict on the side of Germany. He also called upon the German people to

BERLIN, Sept. 30.—Voelkischer Beobachter, Chancellor Adolf Hitler's newspaper, today called upon England to bring the Anglo-French war against Germany to an immediate conclusion.

This latest barrage in the German "peace offensive" was touched off as the entire German press carried editorials along the same line and high German quarters hinted that Hitler might be willing to establish a reduced Polish state as a concession to attract an armistice from the allies.

Two Separate Crashes Near DuBois Take Lives Of Two Boys And One Girl

SEVEN OTHERS ARE INJURED

(International News Service)
DUBOIS, Pa., Sept. 30.—Three high school students were killed in two automobile accidents as late today brought a tragic anti-climax to last night's DuBois-Clearfield high school football game.

Both accidents occurred at midnight as the separate parties of students were returning from the game at Clearfield.

Two DuBois youths, Dolph Doucette, 18, and Russell Hevener, 17, were fatally injured and four companions were hurt, three seriously, when their car skidded and struck a tree near Penfield. Doucette and Hevener died in Maple Avenue hospital, DuBois, this morning.

Turkish Military Mission Reported Enroute To London

(International News Service)
LONDON, Sept. 30.—The London Daily Telegraph stated today that a Turkish military mission is en route to London from Ankara, headed by General Kaizim Orbay.

This indicated that Britain and France are striving to prevent Turkey from falling into the Russo-German sphere of influence.

Turkish Foreign Minister Sukru Saracoglu is in Moscow conferring with Soviet government leaders.

London, Sept. 30.—The proposed Anglo-Turkish military assistance and economic pact will be placed before the Turkish national assembly within two days, the London Daily Express reported today from Istanbul.

But informed quarters considered that the provisions in the friendship agreement for consultation on necessary measures represented the maximum concession the Soviet government was willing to make to Ribbentrop in exchange for a free hand in the Baltic and Black seas areas.

At the same time, the Soviet government concentrated on the Balkans, as Soviet leaders resumed conversations with Turkish foreign Minister Sukru-Saracoglu.

Announcement of the outcome of these talks was expected in the near future. It was predicted in some quarters that this might provide for complete closure of the vital Dardanelles against passage by ships of any powers now or potentially hostile to Russia, Germany or both.

This, however, would not give Germany a free hand to drive down the Danube through Rumania or Bulgaria to the Black sea, informed quarters stated. It was expected Russia would permit Germany merely to expand her trade with Rumania, and other Balkan nations.

Under the mutual assistance pact signed by Russia and Estonia, the Soviet gets right to establish air and naval base on the islands of Oesel and Dagoe, commanding the entrance to the Gulf of Finland, and in the Baltic port of Paldiski. The pact moves Russia roughly 250 miles to the West. Meanwhile, the Soviet and Germany announced final terms of the Polish conquest, with the Bug River as the main dividing line, giving Warsaw to the Nazis.

Credit Clause In Neutrality Measure Draws Heavy Attack

By EDWARD B. LOCKETT

WASHINGTON, Sept. 30.—The ninety day discretionary credit clause of the administration's so-called cash and carry neutrality bill drew heavy fire from opposition forces today.

This clause permits the president, in his discretion, to give belligerent governments purchases of munitions in this country ninety days to pay their bills.

Opposition forces attacked the credit section on two fronts. In the first place, said leaders of the forces battling the neutrality bill, the credit clause constitutes an amendment of the Johnson act prohibiting nations to war debt defaulting nations. Anglo-French Attack Likely To Be Speeded

Increased Solidarity In Determination To Wage Successful War Seen

PEACE ATTEMPT BY GERMANY DOOMED

Soviet Circles In London Insist No Military Alliance With Hitler

By CHARLES A. SMITH
International News Service Staff Correspondent

LONDON, Sept. 30.—Increased solidarity of the Anglo-French allies in their determination to wage a victorious war against Germany as a result of the new German-Russian rapprochement was predicted by official London quarters today.

It was expected, in consequence, that there would be a marked acceleration of the allied land, sea and air attacks on Germany next week.

Doomed To Failure
British authorities quickly stated that any attempt by Germany to make a separate peace with France would be doomed to failure.

This was expected to be emphasized by Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain before the house of commons on Monday, when he voices the formal reply of the allies to the Soviet-German demand for immediate peace on the basis of the Russo-German partition of Polish territory.

(German reports from Amsterdam said Chamberlain would fly to France today for a meeting of the allied supreme war council at which the Soviet-German accord and means of coping with the situation it created will be discussed.)

Fears aroused in London and Paris by the Moscow announcement threatening "joint consultation" between Russia and Germany on "necessary measures" unless Britain and France abandoned the war, were allayed soon what in London.

Insist No Alliance
Soviet circles in London sought to calm these fears by insisting there is still no military alliance between Russia and the Reich.

In view of this, it was expected that neither Chamberlain nor French Premier Daladier would launch their countries in any warlike movements against the Soviet union.

Diplomatic Battle Front Overshadows Front-Line In European War Action

(International News Service)

Once again diplomatic battle fronts in the European war overshadowed actual front-line fighting as Germany sought to threaten the Anglo-French allies to call off the war against the Reich before it leads to "disastrous result."

The center of the diplomatic stage remained mysterious Moscow, and the center of negotiations there shifted to the "tinder box" Balkans as Soviet authorities conversed with Turkish Foreign Minister Sukru Saracoglu.

Moscow Observers Are Not Convinced Of Secret German Pact

(International News Service)

MOSCOW, Sept. 30.—Despite the threat of Russo-German "consultation" if the Anglo-French allies fail to end their war against the Reich, Moscow observers expressed the opinion today that no secret Russo-German military alliance has been concluded.

If this is true, it was stated, German foreign minister Joachim von Ribbentrop's recent visit to Moscow may have failed to achieve its chief purpose—conclusion of a full military pact.

Under this line of reasoning informed quarters in Moscow pointed out, it is possible that refusal of the allies to end the war and consider the Russo-German "peace ultimatum" might leave Germany almost completely isolated.

Maximum Concession
Von Ribbentrop returned to Berlin yesterday with Soviet-German pacts establishing a common frontier between the two powers thru Polish territory and stipulating trade expansion between Germany and Russia.

But informed quarters considered that the provisions in the friendship agreement for consultation on necessary measures represented the maximum concession the Soviet government was willing to make to Ribbentrop in exchange for a free hand in the Baltic and Black seas areas.

At the same time, the Soviet government concentrated on the Balkans, as Soviet leaders resumed conversations with Turkish foreign Minister Sukru-Saracoglu.

HARRISBURG, Sept. 30.—Buttressed by two sweeping orders of public assistance moved to day to purge the state's relief rolls of approximately 35,000 "undeserving" dole recipients. Public Assistance Secretary Howard L. In addition, Russell was told to discontinue granting of relief to persons eligible for unemployment compensation during the first three weeks' wait for the first jobless benefit check.

carry on the war against Hitlerism, regardless of whether Russia comes leaping into the fray on the side of Germany or remains neutral. French Information Chief Jean Giraudoux called the Russo-German "peace ultimatum" an attempt to "blackmail" the allies into surrender, while in London British authorities predicted it would merely serve to strengthen Anglo-French solidarity and determination.

Formal Answer Monday
The formal answer of Great Britain to the Soviet-German maneuver, hatched in Moscow during the visit there of German Foreign Minister Joachim von Ribbentrop, will be made Monday before the House of Commons.

In Berlin the "peace offensive" was supported by the German press, particularly by Chancellor Hitler's own newspaper, Volkischer Beobachter, which said:

"We know that Europe is waiting for peace from England. We to those who reject it. They will be stoned at once by their own peoples."

Paris, meanwhile, claimed still further advances in the death-laden no man's land between the Maginot and Siegfried lines along the north-eastern portion of the Saar front. War communiques No. 54 said the night had passed "without incident" save for activity by patrols in the region east of the Saar.

Balkans Situation Obscure
The situation as it affects the Balkans was obscure, and seemed destined to remain so until the results of Saragol's visit to Moscow become known. When that is revealed it will be possible to evaluate more accurately not only the status of the Balkans but also the full significance of the "friendship" and other agreements obtained from the Russians by Germany's foreign minister.

At Istanbul it was reported that terms of mutual assistance and diplomatic agreements between Turkey and the Anglo-French allies have been settled and will soon be signed. It was claimed that the forthcoming Russo-Turkish pact would not interfere with these agreements.

In Moscow some quarters professed to believe that there is as yet no secret Russo-German military alliance. These circles said that, if this is true, refusal of the allies to end the war against Germany may leave the Reich isolated despite the Russo-German threat of "consultation" under such circumstances.

overthrow Chancellor Hitler's regime and make possible a "real peace."

"Today," he said, "the ruler of Germany has combined with the ruler of Russia to ensure peace in eastern Europe. Poland's massacre, the seizure of small states and the blackmail of the powers are typically German-Russian methods."

Giraudoux made his broadcast amid reports alleging that a secret military entente already exists between the Reich and the Soviet Union.

Sensational Documents
These reports, not officially confirmed, said Henri Berenger, chairman of the French senate foreign affairs committee, told a meeting of that body that French authorities had discovered "sensational documents confirming that a 'diplomatic and economic alliance' was signed by Germany and Russia."

French government circles indicated Moscow's real reply to the latest Moscow maneuver will be given on the field of battle, and that answer will be war to the finish.

Last night's official war communiqué, No. 53, told of strong German artillery reaction to the French advances in the Saar area. The Germans were seeking to prevent the French from bringing up reinforcements and materials in order to strengthen the captured ground.

"There was enemy artillery action in the region east of the Saar, notably south of Zweibrücken (Deux Ponts) and Pirmasens," said the communiqué. There also was activity of reconnaissance and observation planes on both sides."

Secondly, Johnson and other opposition leaders said that under the discretionary section of the credit clause, the president would have power to extend such credits to one nation, and refuse them to another.

"Un-Neutral Powers"
"The act gives the president unneutral powers, that's all," he said. The credit clause appeared to opponents of the neutrality legislation the most vulnerable point to attack, and they will take full opportunity of this when debate starts on the bill next week.

The new bill's provision repealing the arms embargo section of present neutrality law continued the main issue over which opposition forces were battling, but they decided a strategic piecemeal attack centering on the credit clause would best help their cause.

Johnson was particularly vehement over the ninety day credit clause.

"Why," he said, "the administration spokesmen emphasized over and over that what they wanted was a real cash and carry law. 'Cash on the barrelhead,' they said. Now they come in here with a bill that isn't cash at all."

Johnson was reminded that in international finance 90 days was frequently considered "normal."

ITALIAN FOREIGN MINISTER STARTS FOR BERLIN PARLEY

to prepare the way for an approach to Great Britain and France for the cessation of further hostilities now that Poland has been partitioned. Ciano is not only foreign minister, but the son-in-law of Il Duce.

In his last speech Mussolini said that the "liquidation" of Poland removed any cause for further conflict, and charged that Britain and France had lost their justification for continued hostilities because of their failure to attack Soviet Russia after the Russian invasion of Poland.

"Historic Decision"
In any case, the visit was held to be reaffirmation of the continued solidarity of the Rome-Berlin axis, notwithstanding all "expert opinions" to the effect that Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler's pact with bolshevism had offended and alienated the Italian fascist regime.

Italy is rigorously observing the neutrality decreed by Premier Mussolini on September 1, but Il Duce himself has hinted of some possible new step.

In his last published address, delivered to members of the fascist hierarchy of Bologna in Rome, Mussolini told the people of Italy to hold themselves in readiness for announcement of some "historic decision."

Meanwhile, the attitude of Italy toward the reported plan of Germany and Russia to carve out sphere of influence in the Balkans, where Italy has major interests, remains somewhat obscure.

Some recent reports have hinted of a German-Italian-Russian hegemony in the Balkans, but the extent to which this plan may have been taken into consideration in Moscow is problematical.

London, Sept. 30.—Italian Foreign Minister Count Galeazzo Ciano of Italy will leave Rome for Berlin this evening (at the invitation of the German government), it was stated in a Reuter dispatch from Paris.

MARGARET McCORMICK AND R. M. BROOKS WED

The home of Dr. and Mrs. C. H. Heaton, 314 Park avenue, was the scene of a quiet wedding ceremony Friday morning at 10:30 o'clock when Margaret Hazel McCormick, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elder McCormick, Highland Heights, became the bride of Ralph McKelvey Brooks, son of Mr. and Mrs. David Brooks, Edison avenue.

The vows were exchanged in the presence of the immediate families and a few close friends of the couple with Dr. Heaton, First Baptist church minister, officiating with the single ring service.

For her wedding, the bride chose a street length dress of steel blue crepe, fashioned on princess lines, with accessories to harmonize. She wore a black velvet turban and her shoulder corsage was of pink tea roses.

The couple was unattended.

Immediately following the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Brooks departed for a wedding trip to Washington, D. C., and other interesting points. For traveling, Mrs. Brooks wore a brown suit with matching accessories.

Upon their return, the couple will take up residence at 5 West Edison avenue, this city.

The bride is a graduate of Union high school and for several years has been affiliated with the offices of Attorney C. W. Fenton and the Mutual Building and Loan Association. The groom graduated from New Castle high school and is associated with the local branch of the Bell Bakeries.

CHURCH CHOIR HONORS BIRTHDAY OF MEMBER

Friday evening the senior choir of the First Baptist church honored one of its most faithful members, Mrs. Harriet Macom, at a surprise birthday party, after choir rehearsal.

On the pretense of going to the social room to view the new decorations in the church dining room, Miss Mabel Morrison, choir president, led Mrs. Macom down, where she was greeted with the strains of "Happy Birthday To You". The long table was beautifully appointed in the birthday theme.

Mrs. Macom was taken completely by surprise, and after giving her composure, John W. Owens, the choir leader, with a short address, appreciative of her services, presented her with a beautiful floor lamp as a gift from her associates. She responded most graciously.

After the serving of a delicious lunch the program committee presented an original radio skit, arranged by Mrs. Paul D. Weller, assisted by Mrs. Harry Cook and Mrs. Wesley Luikart. As a special feature for the entire group, a recorded transcription of an anthem rendered by the choir, and also a solo by Mrs. Weller, was played.

Mrs. Harry Remley was chairman of the refreshment committee and Mrs. Weller chairman of the entertainment committee.

RECENT BRIDE IS FETED AT SHOWER

Mrs. Harry W. Earl, nee May Smith, was honored at a shower given recently by her aunts, Mrs. James Travers and Mrs. Charles Britton, at the former's home on Wilmington avenue.

Games were the pastimes, prizes going to Mrs. Robert Robinson, Mrs. Roxie Smith and Mrs. Rosemary Greico, the latter also capturing the door trophy.

At a late hour a delicious lunch was served by the hostesses, assisted by Mrs. John Travers and Nellie May.

The honoree received many beautiful and useful gifts. Guests attended from Sharon and Youngstown.

RUTH CONTI BRIDE OF ANDREW GEORGE

Before an enbanked altar of ferns and flowers, this morning at 9:30 o'clock, in St. Vitus church, Miss Ruth Conti, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Conti of 608 Canyon street, became the bride of Andrew George, son of Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas George, 507 East Lutton street. Rev. Fr. Nicholas DeMita officiated, using the single ring service.

Vows were exchanged in the presence of guests and preceding the approach of the bride party, Frances Colao contributed a period of nuptial music.

Given away in marriage by her father, Lawrence Conti, the bride was lovely in a white satin gown, princess style, made entrain with a small lace collar and leg-of-mutton sleeves. Her finger tip veil was caught in a stiff peaked lace crown, covered with seed pearls and she carried an arm bouquet of Easter lilies and baby breath.

Miss Dorothy Micco, cousin of the bride, as maid of honor, was attired in a deep rose gown with square neckline and deep blue accessories. Her colonial bouquet was of red roses and blue delphinium.

Nick George, cousin of the groom, served as best man.

Supplementing the ceremony, a wedding dinner was served for the immediate families in the home of the groom.

Later in the evening Mr. and Mrs. George departed on a wedding trip to Ohio and other points of interest. For traveling, the bride selected a black ensemble with accessories of moss green, and a corsage of red roses.

Upon their return the young couple will be "at home" to their friends after October 5, in their new home, 509 East Lutton street.

Mrs. George was affiliated with the G. C. Murphy company, and Mr. George is an employee of the Johnson Bronze company.

Daladier And War Leaders In Conference

Premier Meets Heads Of All Branches Of French Defense

BY GERMANS SEEN

By KENNETH T. DOWNS
International News Service Staff Correspondent

PARIS, Sept. 30.—While German troops massed across the border for the major onslaught which will launch the "Guerre Totale," Premier Edouard Daladier met in secret conference with the heads of all branches of French defense today.

The premier and his conferees put the final touches on the strategy to be used in meeting this attack, the success or failure of which may largely influence the character of the western world.

The meeting was an extremely secret one. No formal communiqué was issued, but the fact that Daladier conferred with his military chiefs instead of his diplomatic aides indicated strongly that nothing but a rejection, backed by force of arms, was contemplated in answer to the Russo-German "peace offensive."

See Intensive Onslaught

It was noteworthy that while all signs point to a "super-offensive" by the Germans on land, Daladier summoned his naval and air chiefs to the meeting as well as commander-in-chief General Maurice Marie-Gustave Gamelin and the great strategist of the land forces, General Alphonse Georges.

This factor tended to confirm belief that the allies anticipated Nazi Germany may "shoot the works" at the British fleet, the City of London, channel ports and other centers simultaneously with a double envelopment land offensive on the western front.

The situation on the border continued to be quiet, although increasing activity by German patrols was noted. Resulting in further skirmishes in the Saar and Blies regions. There was considerable artillery activity in the Wissembourg area.

French forces downed two more German scouting planes and lost one of their own.

Sentence Three For Robbery Here

Trio Given Penitentiary Sentences For A. And P. Store Holdup

OTHER CASES ARE ALSO DISPOSED OF

Sentences were passed on three defendants connected with the robbery of an A. & P. store on East Washington street at sentence court held this morning by Judges W. Walter Braham and Thomas W. Dickey.

John P. Simison was sentenced to serve from 9 to 18 years in the Western penitentiary.

Sam Kosky was given from 8 to 16 years in the Western penitentiary.

Jimmie Daniele was sentenced to Huntingdon industrial reformatory, the term of his sentence depending upon his conduct.

The more severe sentences were given to Simison and Kosky on account of previous records, it was revealed. The court took one year of Simison's sentence in consideration of his entering a plea of guilty.

Court Crier Clifford Vance took the precautionary measure of instructing tipstaffs not to admit any one while the sentences were being passed.

Other Sentences
Other sentences were passed as follows:

Dr. Vincent B. Bowler, operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of liquor, 30 days to jail, to be released in five days upon the payment of costs and $100. Dr. Bowler, who lives in Illinois, was passing through here on his vacation when arrested.

Edward Jones, for operating an automobile after his license had been suspended, was given 60 days to the county jail.

Jack Santell, who was charged with writing "numbers," drew a fine of $350 and five months to jail.

Howard Gettings, Edmond Naylor and Clyde Reed, charged with attempting to break and enter a building, were placed on probation for two years.

Thomas V. Heasley and William Jaynes, attempting to commit burglary, jail for six months.

Bert E. Jenkins, charged with larceny of an automobile in four cases, was given a year on each case, the sentences to run consecutively.

Nelson Schmoer, attempt to commit burglary, jail for one year. It was stated that he was a deserter from the U. S. army.

William Parknave, Mark Paul Bedenk and Joseph Hyronax, who were charged with rape and who were found guilty on the third and fourth counts of the indictment, charging assault and battery, and assault, were each sentenced to ten months to the Allegheny county workhouse. Judge Braham told them they were lucky in not having to be sentenced on the grave charge.

Simon Rogovin, who was charged with buying junk from minors, was sentenced to pay the costs in the case.

George Bodendorfer, operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of liquor, 30 days to jail, to be released in five days upon the payment of $100 and costs.

John McKisson, aggravated assault and battery, 70 days to jail, dating from July 28, when he was arrested.

Louis De Lurio, assault with intent to rob, from 18 months to three years in the Allegheny county workhouse.

William Lubinsky, operating a motor vehicle without the consent of the owner, costs and 30 days to the county jail.

Conference Of Y Very Satisfactory

Women Display Much Interest In Discussion Topics At Gathering Friday

This conference discussion system of the Y. W. C. A., which is the intrinsic nature of democracy, proved unusually successful and helpful yesterday when at 4 o'clock the officers and committees of the Association and its clubs met for the fall setting up conference.

The discussions which centered on various matters of interest to Association members lasted through the late afternoon and early evening. The women, numbering 72, brought their own box lunches. Coffee and ice cream were sold by the committee.

Among the matters brought up was that of the annual All-Association Dinner. The conference set Monday, November 13, as the date for the huge affair and it will take place in the Cathedral dining room again. Seven hundred attended the dinner last year. Plans will be in charge of Mrs. James E. Chambers and her World Fellowship committee. The dinner will be a fitting celebration of the World Y. W. C. A. Fellowship Week November 12-18. The planning committee will have a meeting October 12, at 7:30 p. m. it was announced.

Mrs. Roy Long, president of the Y. W. C. A. early in the conference introduced Mrs. Charles T. Metzler, chairman of the conference planning committee. Topics interesting the women included membership and standards and how to "sell" the Y. W. C. A. idea to the community. At the conclusion fine reports were given by all group leaders.

Music and games were diversissements.

Fire Prevention Urged By Adams

Head Of Motor Police Cites Part Motor Police Force Plays In State

SAYS MOST FIRES ARE PREVENTABLE

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, Sept. 30.—Col. Lynn G. Adams, commissioner of Pennsylvania Motor Police, today cited the important part the motor police force plays in fire prevention and appealed to all Pennsylvanians to aid in the observance of fire prevention week during the period from Oct. 8-14 inclusive.

"The Pennsylvania Motor Police exercises important functions with regard to fire control," Adams said. "Including the detection and investigation of incendiary fires and the elimination and removal of fire hazards. Naturally, in my official capacity as well as privately, I am deeply concerned in the matter of fire prevention and protection."

"I urge every person in Pennsylvania to observe fire prevention week from Oct. 8 to Oct. 14 inclusive and to continue their efforts in the cause of fire prevention throughout the entire year."

"It is the duty of every good citizen to seriously consider the tremendous damage wrought by fire. We must all realize that fire is a good servant but a vicious master. Uncontrolled fire each year results in a horrible loss of life and a tremendous economic loss. In 1938 there were approximately 2000 casualties as a result of fire in Pennsylvania, while the people of our state suffered a property loss of over $13,000,000."

"This fire toll is unnecessary because for the most part it is preventable. Statistics reveal that about 80 per cent of fire losses could be prevented. They originate mainly by reason of carelessness and indifference on the part of the individual. Concentrated effort on the part of each person in our commonwealth will result in confining fire to the role of a good servant."

Trio Ordered To Pay Costs

Court Directs Bell, Norman And Levine To Carry Out Jury Verdict

COSTS AMOUNT TO $322.25 COURT FINDS

Men Are Given Four Months Time In Which To Pay

Efforts to escape paying the costs imposed upon them in a verdict by the jury in the case of Henry Bell against policemen, Walter Teweil, Cecil Suber and James Hagan, whom he charged with an assault, proved futile when the persons named in the verdict came before Judges W. Walter Braham and Thomas W. Dickey at court this morning.

In finding a verdict of not guilty, the jury placed the costs on the prosecutor, Henry Bell, Rev. G. J. Norman and Sak Levine, the jury evidently believing that the two latter were concerned in the case.

The costs amounted to $322.25, which Bell, Norman and Levine were directed to pay, one third each. They are given four months in which to make payment, provided they do not have the cash.

In passing sentence Judge Braham took occasion to remark that it was the first time since he has been connected with the court that a jury had brought in a verdict of this kind, but that, under the law they had a right to do so.

Asked if they had anything to say, Rev. Norman told him he had always sought to lead a blameless life. He said that his grandfather was a full-blooded Cherokee Indian, and that he had other Indian blood in him and is listed in Maryland as an American Indian. He also stated that he was a disabled war veteran and drew compensation from the government and from the state relief. He disclaimed any tendencies toward communism.

Levine stated that he had always taken an interest in the down trodden, whether white or Negro. He had become interested in the case through stories he had heard regarding it. "The jury" he said "had heard testimony regarding his political beliefs which were untrue." He did not think that the jury had any right to place costs upon him when he was not given an opportunity to appear as a witness.

A plea was made for Bell on the grounds that the facts surrounding the case had been exaggerated.

Attorney Gilbert Long, who was with District Attorney John G. Lamoree, in the prosecution of the case, questioned Levine's motives in being interested in the case. He said Levine is secretary of the Communist party. He showed copies of the New York Sunday worker in which the case had been written up, intimating that Levine had been back of them, and that they were evidently written to prejudice the case from the prosecutor's standpoint.

Speaking of Rev. Norman, Long said that he seemed to have been a willing tool in the hands of the organization with which Levine was connected. The Bell case, he said, had been seized as an opportunity to criticize orderly government.

American Legion For Neutrality And Peace

By DARRELL GARWOOD
International News Service Staff Correspondent

CHICAGO, Sept. 30.—In the scales being adjusted to keep America out of war, the full weight of the American Legion today was cast on the side of peace and neutrality.

And no legal neutrality which finds America nevertheless taking sides backstage, will satisfy the World War veterans, according to the legion's new national commander, Raymond J. Kelly of Detroit.

"I take my orders from a million legionnaires, and they feel as I do . . . we must not take sides behind the scenes," he declared yesterday in an interview.

The American Legion's policy will remain fixed even though events in the current European war go badly for the British and French, in Kelly's opinion. He said:

"It is my own belief that the United States should not go to war except in defense of its integrity as a nation or in defense of its own territories or in defense of the Monroe Doctrine."

A broad-shouldered corporation counsel, alumnus of Notre Dame and Detroit universities, Kelly sees the father of six children, Kelly sees the greatest crisis of his career ahead for the legion and its million members. He was elected national commander Thursday.

"We urge all citizens to join us in making plain to our representatives in Washington that it is their job to follow the best possible means of keeping America out of war," he said.

Milk Producers To Ask Increase

Meeting Held At Court
House On Friday Evening

CONTROL BOARD MEETS OCTOBER 5

Milk producers of Lawrence county who are members of the Keystone Milk Producers Association will ask the Pennsylvania Milk Control Board for a flat price for all milk instead of the present system of graded prices for various classes. The flat price to be asked will be somewhere between $2.76 per hundred and $3 per hundred.

A meeting of the association was held in the court house Friday evening with Vice President Homer Nicely in charge. Two speakers were heard, President Haering of the United Farmers of America, and John Bash, both of Westmoreland county.

Mr. Haering told of the history of the United Farmers organization, its accomplishments to date and said he hoped the day would come when all the farmer organizations could be under one banner in order to consolidate the efforts.

At the present time milk is classified. Class one milk bringing $2.70 per hundred with the other classes running down to a point where the average price per hundred is about $1.80.

A hearing will be held by the Milk Control Board in Pittsburgh on Thursday, October 5 at which time demands will be made for an increase in prices to the producers.

Gets Letter From Sister In Africa

Meade Thompson, of South Crawford avenue, received a letter, Thursday, from his sister, Mrs. Linda Seymour, a missionary in Bakouma, French Equatorial Africa. Mrs. Seymour mentions that the Towgoes tribal village is visited by her in her work. She states: "The Towgoes eat dead people, and it gives a person the shivers to look at them, although they look like the rest of the natives." Since the commencement of the war, Mrs. Seymour says mail being sent her, has been delayed several weeks, as it has to go through London and Paris, before reaching its destination.

Mrs. Seymour was formerly from this city, and well known here. She is under the International Missionary Board of Chicago. She has been in Africa, about twelve years in all. It is about three years ago since she was here on her last furlough.

At The Airport

H. C. Cooler, of South Bend, Indiana, flying a new Stinson airplane spent Thursday night in the city, and stored his airplane at a hangar at the port. He took off Friday morning for South Bend.

Another visitor at the New Castle Airport this week, is a person that many local people know. Kenny Wright, manager of the Scott field at Wheeling, West Virginia, landed here in a new Cub coupe. Many local people have flown with Kenny at Youngstown.

Captain Goodsell and his co-pilot Gilbert Minnick left the airport Friday morning and headed southward. The flying season for them is just beginning in the southern states.

Quite a number of fine pictures were taken of the huge crowd of spectators at the airport last Sunday. A number of amateur photographers were on hand and made shots from all angles.

Although Gil Minnick did not talk much about himself while here on a visit, it was learned from other sources that he has the distinction of being the only flyer ever to rebuild a wrecked Ford Tri-motor airplane. This was accomplished sometime ago in the State of New York.

Another point of interest about Minnick is the fact that all of his government license examinations were taken in a big tri-motored airplane.

One additional runway is needed at the local port to get it a first class rating. The runways now found at the port are in excellent condition and will take care of the biggest of airplanes.

There is nothing so beautiful at the present time than a view of the countryside from the air. The autumn colors are just beginning to show as the trees and shrubs over the hillsides in the district begin to turn to hues of red, yellow and brown.

Court house officials will decide today whether or not to change the time of opening and closing the offices after November 1. At the present time the offices open at 8 a. m. and close at 4 p. m. If a change is made it will be from 8:30 a. m. to 4:30 p. m., which is the usual hours during the winter months.

Six more ballot boxes were ordered brought in by the return judges making the official count of the vote cast at the recent primary. In the first, third, and fourth districts of Wayne township, it was found that the election board had not separated the Republican and Democratic ballots cast on the local option ticket, but added them together. The same trouble was encountered in the second of Union. In the third of Shenango there was no general return sheet, and in Scott township there was no tally sheet for the non-partisan vote.

Resignation of Harry C. Zimmerman as judge of election in the second district of Wayne township was presented to Judge Braham today. He directed Sheriff Ingham to post notices of the vacancy, which will be filled on October 7.

Partial hearing was held before Judge W. Walter Braham yesterday in the habeas corpus case of Helen Duda, against her husband, John Duda, to secure possession of their two year old son, Larry Lee Duda. The Dudas have separated and the father has had possession of the child. Additional testimony is to be taken on October 14.

County Treasurer V. I. Mandich has prepared a statement showing the amount of county and institution taxes assessed in the eight wards of the city for 1939, the amounts collected, and the amounts going to the delinquent collector. The total amount of tax in the eight wards was $309,100, distributed as follows: First ward, $30,987.22; second, $138,510.46; third, $25,823.87; fourth, $42,348.26; fifth, $17,743.28; sixth, $13,549.30; seventh, $19,467.39 and eighth, $20,670.75.

Of the total amount there was paid at the county treasurer's office at a discount, a total of $224,589.11. The amount of discounts allowed were $11,763.07. Paid at face, $11,410.04. There went to the delinquent collector, $61,531.76. The total amount of taxes paid the treasurer was $248,568.77, or a little over 77 per cent of the face of the duplicates, which is a very good showing.

An unusual petition has been filed in the Lawrence county court on which it will be necessary to take testimony in a foreign country. The case is that of Yrjo Albert Pirkkala, who has asked Judge W. Walter Braham to change his name to George Albert Berkley.

It is set forth that the petitioner is now a clerk in the American foreign service at Helsinki, Finland, and through Attorney J. Elder Bryan, asks for a rule permitting an application to take testimony in Finland on October 25, before Lawrence W. Von Hellens, vice consul of the United States at Helsinki. Judge Braham directs that the testimony be sealed and sent to Prothonotary John A. Edgar.

The Societa Di Mutuo Soccorso Italiana Generale Amando Diaz of West Pittsburg, has asked the court to permit an amendment to its charter, which will permit the assessment of dues and the payment of sick benefits and burial expenses of its members. The officers of the society are Alfonso Caravella, president; Giuseppe Isabella, treasurer, and Giuseppe Attisous, secretary.

Dr. Daffoe's Column On The Quintuplets And The Care Of Your Children

(Copyright 1939, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

WHAT TO DO WITH THE RETARDED CHILD

It is an agonizing experience when parents finally discover that their child is mentally retarded because of some accident at birth. Too many of them feel that other people regard this as punishment for some past wrong they have committed. This of course is ridiculous.

Perhaps the greatest danger in bringing up such a child is that parents allow his care to ruin their own lives and that of other children in the family. This baby will be small and helpless much longer than the ordinary baby, and often the mother lavishes her affection on this child and lets the rest of the family beg for attention. Mothers sometimes try to make up in affection for what the child lacks in normality.

In my own experience I have seen this happen more than once and I want to warn others not to make the same mistake. Accordingly, when I run across a case of a child whose brain has failed to develop, I have a series of very plain talks with the parents. You can't show them what is ahead all at once, I have learned.

At times I have been accused of being brutal, but when you can convince parents that you are right it often saves the happiness of an entire family.

The first step is to convince the parents, particularly the mother, that the child will never be of any use to himself or to others, and the sooner they make their minds up to this, the better. They should be convinced that in a proper institution the child can develop slowly and will be given just the amount of mental stimulation that he can absorb by his experienced nurses. In his own home he cannot hope to be given as fine care, and he will be up against a world in which everyone else is normal. The result will be that he will be constantly facing problems that are too much for him, and it is altogether likely that this will tend to develop unusual symptoms in him.

I have observed a good many of these cases and I know that the chances of such a child being successfully brought up in his own home are not more than a hundred to one. The child presents a problem that the home is not equipped to deal with, and the results are bad for all concerned.

For instance I was once called to a home to see such a child who was ill. I found that although he was ten years old, he was kept tied up all the time. In summer they tied him to an apple tree near the house, and in the winter he was tied to a lounge in the house.

The mother could hardly be blamed, for it was about the only way she could keep track of the poor little fellow whose mind hadn't kept pace with the development of his body. However, I was instrumental in having this child placed in an institution, and I wish you could have seen the change it worked in that home.

If parents lose no time putting such a child in a proper institution where the environment will be paced to suit him, he himself will be a great deal happier, and the parents will be relieved of a great care which they are not equipped to shoulder.

Fire Of Undetermined Origin

Burns Peyton's Roadhouse, Cost $85,000 To Build

(International News Service) PITTSBURGH, Sept. 30.—Fire of an undetermined origin destroyed the Eddie Peyton roadhouse on the Steubenville Pike just west of Crafton early today.

Peyton, band leader-owner of the establishment, led his three-year-old son and three other persons to safety from the blazing structure. Hampered by lack of water, firemen from Crafton and Imgram were unable to curb the blaze. The building burned to the ground.

Peyton discovered the fire as he was returning after a visit to nearby friends with his wife, Bertha. The roadhouse had been closed for several hours when the fire broke out. Peyton, who said he had dropped his insurance about a year ago, explained that he had checked the entire building before leaving.

He said the structure represented an $85,000 investment when he built it in 1932.

SEVENTH WARD NEWS

Local Youth Gets Panama Transfer

Joseph Zdurienick Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Zdurienick of 206 West Cherry street, sailed for Panama on the "Hunter Leggett", an army transport ship, on September 27.

He will serve a period of two years in the army at Panama. Zdurienick has been stationed in Fort Slocum, N. Y., for the past two months.

NEWS BRIEFS IN WARD DISTRICT

There is a great deal of censored mail being handled by the Mahoningtown Post Office, addressed to people in the area. Nearly every foreign country has now set up a censor board, and all mail leaving the country is examined.

First portion of the stone retaining wall built at the city disposal plant, some months ago, is now all grown over with plants of all kinds. So well covered is the wall that only close examination would reveal that it was made of stone.

The road constructed to the Universal Pottery Company earlier this year certainly gets its share of use. The old road through the B. & O. railroad shops has been closed completely to traffic to the pottery.

First football game for the Mahoning squad is scheduled for one week from today with Struthers, O. This will be a home game for the local boys.

Halloween is not far in the future now, but nothing has as yet been said or done about the annual Mahoningtown Halloween parade and celebration.

Thomas Jones and his white paint crew were visitors in the Seventh Ward, Friday. They began the periodical work of re-freshening the white lines at various street intersections and dangerous places.

Summer-time screened-in porches are now being converted into open porches for the winter months at various places in the ward. This is another sure sign that winter is close at hand, despite the fact that the weather is nice and warm.

The pumpkin crop is ripe. Many small wagon loads of the yellow, luscious looking pie material have been noted this week enroute to the homes in the district.

Mrs. Johns is helping the girls in their hostess work. The two patrols have decided upon Liberty and Snowflake for their names. Scribe, Shirley McMichael.

PRESBYTERIAL FALL RALLY

About 150 attended the fall rally of the Mercer Presbytery Y. P. C. U. on Tuesday evening, September 26, in the East Brook United Presbyterian church. Willard Bowden conducted the devotional service. James McKnight, a returned missionary from the Sudan, was the speaker.

For several years the Presbytery has contributed to a fund known as the McKnight fund, and the money has helped in the work in the Sudan. It was a privilege for many of the young folks to see and hear for the first time the one whom they help to support. Games were led by Rev. Matthew Gilliland. Cider and doughnuts were served by the executive committee.

RALLY DAY SERVICE

The Y. P. C. U. is having a special rally day program for their meeting Sunday evening, October 1. Frank McMichael is the leader. The hour of meeting is 7 o'clock because of the Community service at the Neshaanock church at 8 o'clock.

GRANGE BOOSTER MEETING

The East Brook grange had a special meeting in their hall on Thursday evening, September 28. It was a booster meeting. There were a number of visitors present. Cider and cookies were served by the social committee. The program follows:

Opening chorus—Come Into the Grange. Prayer—by the Chaplain Willard Bowden. Address of Welcome—Master Glenn Patterson. Reading of Message from National Master L. J. Taber. Vocal Solo—God Bless America, Clair Robinson.

Reports of Committee Chairmen—Social committee, Helen Young; Home Economics committee, Mrs. George Patterson. Essay—What the Grange Offers the Farm Family, Mrs. John Robinson.

Pep Songs—led by Mae McConahy. Play—On Common Ground, James and Violet Robinson, Caroline Moore and Margaret Bowden.

Stunts—Two's a Company, Nancy and Charles Corman and Willard Bowden. Peanut Contest for the men. Closing song—God Be With You Till We Meet Again.

Three Champions In Arena Ring Monday

Robin Fights Spotti And Secrete Casts Blow With Como

WEST PITTSBURGH AND ELLWOOD BOYS TO BOX

A national champ will oppose an outstanding rival, two Golden Glove tournament winners will clash, and six other prospective good battles are on the fight menu for fans who trek through the doors to The Arena Monday to see the benefit boxing bouts for the St. Vitus church parish children's Christmas fund.

The boxers have been training for two weeks. All of them are reported in fine condition. They'll cut out boxing after today until they clamber through the ropes at 8:30 p. m. Monday. Tomorrow they will go through light calisthenics and on Monday morning confine their energy to a brief walk to keep muscles pliable.

Night's Schedule

Here is the card:
Smokey Robinson, Oil City, national lightweight champion of the A. U. vs. Peety Spotti, Cecil, Pa., who has defeated Nick Retardo and Regis O'Brien.

Nick Volpe, 175, Cecil, Pa., twice conqueror of Mickie Rubin vs. Johnny Fulton, a Pittsburgh lightweight.

Sammy Secrete, Sun-Tele Golden Gloves 147 pound winner, vs. Johnny Como, Erie Golden Gloves 147 pound winner. Secrete has vanquished Ted Kowalk, Harold Blank and Ted Delarado. Como recently beat Joe Prosser, McKeesport Golden Gloves winner, in a fight here.

Frankie Moran, local southpaw who has yet to stage a slow fight, vs. Billy Murray, Cecil, Pa., at 126 pounds. Murray is reputedly a good featherweight.

Charlie Arnett, West Pittsburgh, vs. Andy Wertz, Youngstown, 147. Wertz hopes to reverse a decision Arnett won some time ago.

Buck Chambers, West Pittsburgh, vs. Jimmy Brooks, Pittsburgh, 160 pounds.

Benny Bartle, Ellwood City, vs. Milt Taylor, Pittsburgh, 165 pounds.

Bartle hopes to reverse a "kayo" Taylor scored over him at Farrell. Nick Retardo, Ellwood City, vs. Ray Nulph, Oil City, 135 pounds. The Jefferson A. C. will stage the show.

Bears To Play Valley Eleven

The Wabash Bears of Mahoningtown, city football independent champions of 1938-39 will go to Beaver Falls on Sunday to play the Valley Giants at the Beaver Falls High field. The game will start at 2:30 o'clock.

The Valley Giants are made up of former High School and College stars and figure to give the Bears a tough battle. The Bears will be captained Sunday by Harry "Kaiser" Toscano, with Blackie Adamo coaching the team and the managerial duties directed to Willie Domenick. The Bears are to meet tonight at 5 o'clock at the clubhouse for a blackboard drill. The team will leave New Castle for the valley Sunday at 12:30 o'clock from the Bears clubhouse.

J. Moore High In Rifle Shoot

Jesse Moore with a 193 string out of a possible 200 led the New Castle Rifle Club last night in a practice shoot at the Cathedral range. The club will have its final practice shoot of the pre-league season on Monday night at the range at 7:30 o'clock.

The New Castle Club will open the Penn-Ohio Rifle league season next Friday night meeting Youngstown at the Ohio range. The locals are the defending champs again this year.

Results of the shoot last night—J. Moore 193, Gardner 192, Thomas 191, Hill 188, Van Horn 180, McBride 181, Finley 165, Wester 157, Houck 139, Mash 138, Glitch 135.

Pirates Fold Up To Reds In Close Game 2-1

Grisom Holds Pirates To Six Hits As Champions Trim Pirates In Final Game

BASEBALL SEASON TO END ON SUNDAY

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, Sept. 30.—Now that the pennant winners have reached their goal, there still remains the question of second and third place finishers in the American League and third place in the National.

The Cubs and Dodgers are still battling for third place and the final games tomorrow probably will decide which will get the bigger slice of the world series melon.

The Cubs have three more games to play with the Cardinals. The Dodgers have four left with the Phillies. If the Cubs and Dodgers win all their games, they would finish in a tie for third place.

The Dodgers could have moved into third place by taking a pair from the Bees yesterday. Instead they split and are still half a game to the lead.

Reds Trim Pirates
The Bees took the opener 2-1 on a combination of young Tom Earley's four hit pitching and two Dodgers errors. Hugh Casey brought the Dodgers back with a 7-1 decision in the nightcap.

The only other game saw the Pirates sunk for the eighth straight time when the Reds, with Grissom, beat them 2-1. Grissom looked very good and may draw a starting assignment in the big classic if it lasts long enough.

The Red Sox are virtually certain to finish second in the American League but third place is still in doubt with the Indians and White Sox battling for the spot.

The Tigers lost their chance to finish in the first division when the Indians beat them, 4-3 and 3-0, the second being called at the end of the fifth because of darkness.

PUC Declaring War Anew Upon Gambling News

Will Go After Gambling News Dissemination In State Of Pennsylvania

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, Sept. 30.—Pennsylvania's Public Utility Commission declared war today on a revival of outlawed gambling news dissemination in the state.

Commissioner Richard J. Beamish, promising a thorough investigation, revealed that the aid of the federal communications commission would be asked to assist in locating the source of race track information.

Beamish said that gamblers and horse race news service, banned by an act of the legislature from using telephone and telegraph wires in distributing race and gambling news, have developed a new method of evading the Pennsylvania law against transmitting betting information.

Betting interests, Beamish asserted, no longer use leased wires to carry race news direct from tracks to betting centers in the state.

Prohibited Contracts
The Thompson Act, passed in the 1938 special session of the Earle administration, prohibited that by requiring telephone companies to file contracts for all leased wires with the commission.

Now, however, Beamish explained, ordinary telephone facilities are being used by the betting services. A long distance call is made from a track to a book-making headquarters, Beamish pointed out, where it is amplified and carried by separate local telephone calls to other betting centers.

Beamish charged that the Bell Telephone Company of Pennsylvania had cooperated in the system by installing whatever telephone facilities were requested without asking questions or reporting suspicious installations to the commission or to police.

Sports World Ramblings

They all gun for the Canes: New Castle is the biggest target in high school football circles. The chief ambition of practically every scholastic gridiron power in this section of the country is to conquer a Coach Phil Bridenbaugh machine. Grim determination of the Canes' foes to play championship football. Strangely, every team that faces New Castle reaches unbelievable heights on the field.

The reason: The start of New Castle's strutting march across the country's scholastic grid horizon dates back to the fall of 1922 when Phil H. Bridenbaugh gave up a coaching post at Geneva College and took over the reins here. Today I don't believe there is a high school mentor in the land who can match Bridenbaugh's 17-year record of 146 victories, 24 defeats and only 12 ties. Seven of Bridenbaugh's eleven were undefeated. It's easy to see why they all gun for the Canes.

Gunning starts early: It's open season on New Castle the moment practices start. Any club capable of knocking off the Canes considers the season a success even if the campaign shows a few losses. The locals are similar to Joe Louis in one respect. Every fighter wants to defeat Louis. So it is with New Castle. This means that New Castle must play championship ball all the way through against a crop of major foes. After all is said and done, the fans want thrills, thrills and more thrills. Because of this rivalry, you see the greatest high school grid show on earth.

A bit of this and that: Baseball is similar to the newspaper game in one respect, once it gets into your blood it remains there. Frankie Frisch, with a radio job netting him well over $20,000, has quit to get back into the national pastime, headaches and all. Tony Gaudio has taken to the mountains for a long needed rest. After licking Nova, his suds establishment kept Roly Poly on the run for nearly a week. I have my fingers crossed. I hope Freddie Apostoli puts up a better show than he did in Pittsburgh recently, next Monday.

Shenango Loses To Zelenople

Final Score Is 7-0; Winners Score Touchdown In Final Period

Shenango Township high school's griders lost a 7-0 decision to Zelenople high Friday afternoon at Zelenople.

The school boys battled on even terms during the first three periods. Zelenople moved the oval to 10 where Deaslo moved his way through center for the lone score in the last stanza. A pass netted Zelenople its seventh point.

In the dying minutes of the game Shenango started a rally. The locals reached the Zelenople 20 when the final whistle blew. Petro, Fredricks, and Semanski played well on the Shenango line. R. Donley, Frenkel and Cline were outstanding in the backfield.

Franklin Trims Sharpville 13-6

Tom Robinson Scores Twice As East Siders Open Junior High Grid Card

GAMES IS PLAYED IN DRIVING RAIN

Ben Franklin Junior High football team opened the 1939 season yesterday afternoon in a driving rain storm at Sharpville, Pa., by topping a fast Sharpville Junior High team 13 to 6, with young Tommy Robinson scoring both of the Franklin markers.

The Sharpville boys scored first in the second period after the two teams had played fairly even football in the first period. The score was made when Sharpville blocked an attempted quick kick on the 10 yard line which Hermann fell on back of the goal line.

Franklin nearly scored as the first half ended when DeMarco race 60 yards after taking a lateral from Zubkowsky who had taken a pass from Robinson, but the Franklin ball totter was dragged down on the 10-yard line. Ted Josephs passed to Tommy Robinson for the first Franklin touchdown in the third period to tie the score. Another pass Barletto to Robinson was good for the second Franklin touchdown and the victory 13 to 6.

The summary:

	Franklin	Sharpville
Dunder	L	T
Murphy	L	T
Keough	L	G
Baggio	C	J
Palmoli	R	G

Geneva Trims Drexel 13 To 7

(International News Service)
BEAVER FALLS, Pa., Sept. 30.—Geneva College had a victory scored for its 1939 season football opener today, a 13-7 markup over Drexel Institute of Technology of Philadelphia.

Tony Ciolli, Geneva halfback, scored in the first quarter and later in the final period after Drexel's Glenn Williams had tied the score through a smashing downfield drive aided by his backfield mate, Tommy Hughes. Geneva converted on the first touchdown.

McKechnie Claims Yanks Can Be Beat

Pilot Of Cincinnati Reds, National League Champs, Is Jubilant Over Winning Flag

Will Not Name Starting Pitcher For Next Wednesday, Owner Crosley Is Also Happy

CINCINNATI, O., Sept. 30.—Take it straight from Bill McKechnie—"The Yanks can be beaten."

And as his jubilant, pennant-winning Cincinnati Reds traveled to Pittsburgh Friday, Deacon Bill, visibly more elated than anyone has ever seen him, predicted that his boys would be in fine enough shape within five days to let the Yanks know they have a battle on their hands.

The bespectled Red maestro has not yet decided who will hurl the World Series opener. He indicated that he would announce his choice Monday or Tuesday—"To make a rainy day story for the newspapermen."

Good Physical Shape

And that remark, perhaps, does more to give one an insight into the Reds as they are today than anything else they have said or done. For the Reds have relaxed for the first time in weeks, and the strain is off. They have been keyed to the point where, at times, they have played like a bunch of sand-lotters, but always they have been fighting.

President Powel Crosley put it aptly: "I've had my fingers crossed so long I don't remember whether I can get them uncrossed."

All the team members came through the gruelling struggle in good physical condition.

All Very Happy
"We're all very happy," said Deacon Bill. "In my opinion, within five days my boys will be in better physical shape for the World Series than they are today, after their struggle to win the pennant. We're going to be primed for those Yankees."

Girls To Play In Final Game

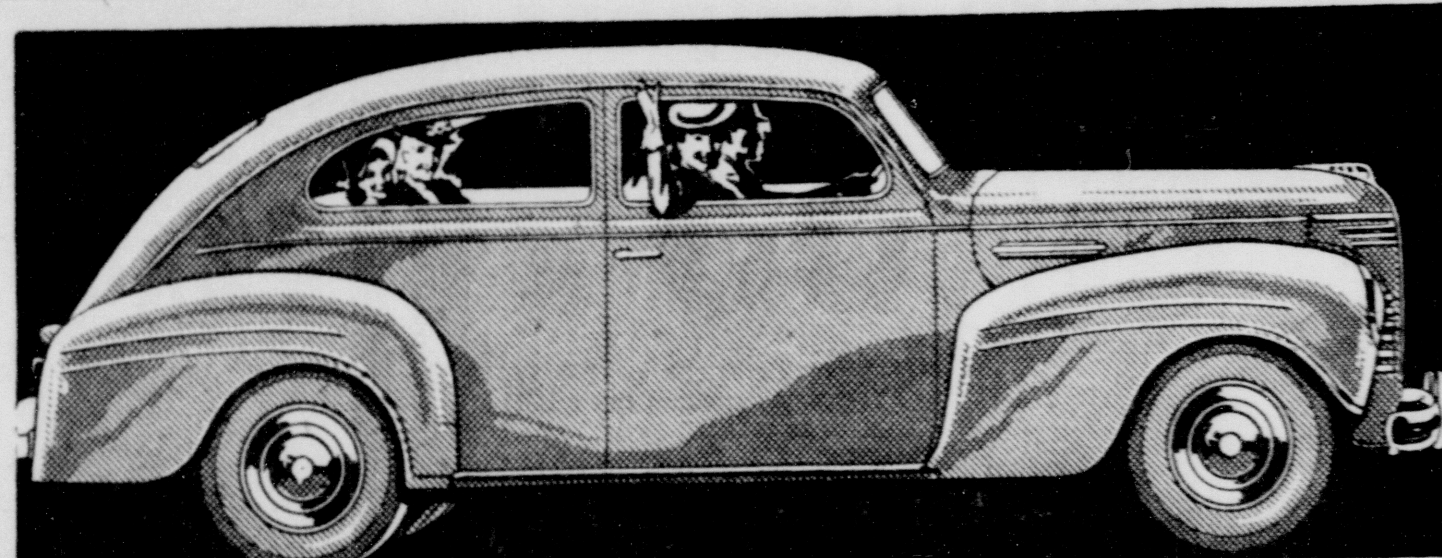

Softball in the city of New Castle (weather permitting) will be officially closed this afternoon for the 1939 season at the Cedar street field when the Booker T. Washington girls will meet the Liberty Star girls from Mahoningtown. The game will start at 3:45 o'clock.

If the game cannot be played today it will be postponed until Sunday should the grounds be too wet this afternoon. Both teams have won a game in the current series. The winner today or Sunday will be the 1939 champs.

FROM ME TO YOU

By MESEALL

We have often wondered about it, and thousands have probably tried to accomplish it... the idea of perpetual motion. Well, we have spotted an article that comes nearer to perpetual motion than anything we have ever seen. A clock on the counter of Jesse Kerr's Jewelry Store... the manufacturer says it's "THE CLOCK THAT LIVES ON AIR"... no human aid is ever needed once this clock gets going. And, according to the manufacturer, the clock should run 150 years with the same amount of wear that an ordinary clock would show in a year. If you don't believe my statements, then just stop in and Jesse will confirm my report... the instruction book says: "The Atmos clock operates entirely on the variation of temperature and barometric pressure. A change of one degree Centigrade gives more than 120 hours of driving energy to the motor"... so there you are.

It's very interesting to study the different market prices... no, we don't mean the stock market, but food prices... Look at last night's News; how many different sugar prices can be found. Three or four—and some are close and others are away from what we have heard in the past three weeks. Therefore we again point out the benefit to you if you read the advertisements in this paper... But we do hope that the sugar price and many other prices will seek their own level soon and thus quiet the suspicious rumors about wholesalers, jobbers and manufacturers.

Age is a quality of mind;
If your dreams you've left behind,
If hope is cold;
If you no longer look ahead,
If your ambition's fires are dead—
Then you are old.
But if from life you take the best,
And if in life you keep the zest,
If love you hold;
No matter how the years go by,
No matter how many birthdays fly—
You are not old.

Public Blamed For Liquor Evil

Head Of Pennsylvania Liquor Control Board Pleads For Cooperation

GOVERNOR JAMES
TAKES FIRM STAND

(International News Service)
CARLISLE, Pa., Sept. 30—Many of the evils of the liquor traffic in Pennsylvania could be eliminated if more complainants were willing to "go to bat" in cooperating with the state liquor control board, Dr. Walter H. Hatcher, chairman, declared recently.

He referred to a successful protest by a Harrisburg minister and 50 of his congregation against licensing a saloon near the church, and declared "that's the kind of support we like. They not only made a protest but were willing also to come before the board and back it up."

He said churchmen generally could be of great help to the board in improving the liquor situation if they would take a more militant stand against violations.

Hitcher, dean of Dickinson law school, said Gov. Arthur H. James favors a non-political, honest administration of liquor control and declared that "only so long as that policy continues shall I remain identified with the board."

Hitcher said the board has been greatly strengthened in its enforcement work by the governor's warning to politicians to "keep hands off the liquor board," and welcomed the "support of all good men everywhere to back up the governor in his efforts to remove at least some of the evils from the liquor traffic."

One of the chief disappointments, Hitcher said, has been in the large number of young men whom the board has been compelled to dismiss because of dishonesty and unfaithfulness. He attributed the undoing of employees as due "possibly in part to the treachery inherent in the liquor business."

Since the 1-to-1000 quota restriction became effective July 24, the board has refused 500 new licenses which it otherwise would have been compelled to grant, he disclosed.

Licensed clubs, he asserted, "provide one of the great difficulties" in the board's enforcement work. He anticipated an effort at an expected special session to remove quota restriction from clubs, a privilege enjoyed now only by hotels.

DAILY DOZEN
(From the Medical Society of the State of Pennsylvania)

Half of all fatal burns are in children under 6 years old.

The aged, also, do not recover easily from extensive burns.

Scalds cause 57 per cent of fatal burns of children.

Matches and heaters cause 20 per cent of the deaths.

Deaths from burns increase as winter approaches.

Care should be taken where open flame stoves are used.

Tannic acid (strong tea) applied promptly helps victims of burns.

Extensive burns offer a grave problem to the physician.

Scars may cause deformities that are hideously tragic.

Added to the physical damage is great mental anguish.

Plastic surgery may restore normal appearance in most cases.

Carelessness is the chief cause of burns—be careful.

The Human Side Of The News

(By EDWIN C. HILL)

Copyright 1939 King Features Syndicate, Inc.

Sometimes, to read the news now, one questions whether, even after one hundred centuries, mankind has learned much of true value. He hasn't even solved the problem of material welfare—much less the riddle of happiness. We used to conclude from reading our history books that was war the great evil of the extreme past, of undeveloped humanity, before civilization really got going. In school and college our heads were full of the wars of Alexander and Caesar, of the conquests of Rome and of the bloody deeds of the Dark Ages.

Well, Harvard University has made quite a study of the relation of wars to modern civilization, and the professors tell us that war was really an insignificant part of man's activities up to the seventeenth century, and that ever since it has steadily increased and grown more barbarous. In the first part of this century, the tide of war rises to the high water mark of the ages we're in right now.

The Harvard savants suggested grimly that war does not tend to disappear with material progress. They say that any hope we have of nothing more substantial than a belief in miracles. They find, from the study of history, that wars increase in number and savagery as nations expand and grow rich, and point to the worst explosion since the dawn of history taking place in our own time.

Time has brought us marching into the world almost beyond the dreams of yesterday, yet into an astounding age, into a world where bewildered millions can find no peace and no prospect of felicity. Throughout the world there is discontent everywhere. Age-old institutions are breaking up, as dictator after dictator crushes freedom.

In the hearts of these millions there is a new terror, another nightmare. Millions of young people, eager, delightful, so warm and vital—the real, unspoiled fruits of civilization—stand with startled eyes as death rains again from the sky.

Some of the most thoughtful men and women of our time have said that the material has submerged the spiritual, and that there lies the root of this evil, this new terror.

With the Second World War barely begun come reports that German soldiers are being shot down by guns made in Germany, and British and French soldiers killed and mangled by guns made by the great British munitions firm of Vickers-Armstrong and the colossal French armament firm of Schneider-Creusot.

It was charged that in the First World War, English and French industries maintained to Germany a steady stream of glycerine for explosives, and a huge flow of nickel, oil, copper and rubber, and that Germany returned iron and steel and magnetos for gas engines.

When the Kaiser's armies drove through Belgium and eastward into Russia, German soldiers were slain by German guns in the hands of the Belgians and the Russians. In the Dardanelles, British ships were blown up by British-made mines and shattered by British-made cannon. Bulgarian troops turned upon French soldiers the famous French Seventy-Fives, manufactured in the plants of Schneider-Creusot. In every naval engagement of the World War the German fleet encountered enemy ships protected by armor plate made in German plants or protected by German patents.

On a village green in rural England stands a war memorial. It is a cannon captured by a local battalion from the Germans. On one side of the cannon are the names of the soldiers who were killed in that advance. On the other side is the manufacturer's name, Vickers, Limited.

Slaughter is highly profitable. In the First World War it cost every government about twenty-five thousand dollars to put a private soldier on the field in action. But the cost to the various groups of men who made killing their business was figured at about one hundred dollars. You see that every time a burst shell fragment found its way into the brain, the heart or the intestines of a man in the front lines, a huge part of the twenty-five thousand dollars found its way into the pockets of the armament-makers—men like the late Sir Basil Zaharoff, who died not long ago in his Monte Carlo villa, full of riches, gold and honors.

If we are to believe all these assertions, and the reports that are beginning to come over once more the same friendly interchange which took place among the armament-makers in the First World War is already at work in the Second World War. If war could possibly be made any more horrible than it already is—any more insane—it is by the contemplation of such facts, or alleged facts, as these.

HARRISBURG, Sept. 30—Validation of the foreign franchise tax with its estimated biennial income of $14,000,000, was a great victory for the James administration . . . When the state supreme court overruled the Dauphin county court, which had previously ruled the law unconstitutional, it vindicated Governor James' course of action.

During the last session of the legislature there was considerable demand among legislators for new taxation to take the place of the invalidated foreign franchise tax. . . . At that time the state was obligated to refund approximately $21,000,000 in revenue already collected and stood to lose another $14,000,000 in estimated revenue included in Governor James' budget for the next biennium. . . . The governor objected, however, saying in effect: "Let's wait until the supreme court has ruled . . . there's always time to pass new taxes." . . . After being informed of the supreme court ruling, the governor commented, "Now wouldn't we have been in an embarrassing situation if we had not waited?"

What was billed as the first political gathering of its kind in any state has apparently pulled a "cropper" . . . Announcement has been made of the indefinite postponement of the first annual dinner of naturalized citizens sponsored by the Republican state committee. . . .

public assistance. . . . The number of applicants was the largest on record.

Proposed extension of the Pittsburgh to Harrisburg turnpike, now under construction, to Philadelphia meets with Gov. James' heartiest approval. . . . The extension of the $61,000,000 super-highway, a move talked of ever since construction began on the Pittsburgh to Harrisburg link, would be financed with federal funds, like the present one . . . the government is interested in the move from a military standpoint. . . . Indications were that if federal government were prepared to finance the extension, Governor James would ask the legislature to approve it.

"THUMB IN SOUP"

IS HELD ILLEGAL

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Sept. 30—Don't let your waiter or waitress get away with putting her or his thumb in your soup. It isn't legal!

So says the latest pamphlet issued by the city bureau of food inspection, compiled by Superintendent Howard C. Patton.

Among other things waiters and waitresses should not do, the pamphlet said, is chew gum while serving, talk over the food or leave finger prints on glassware.
